

"Scholarly And Sensitive"

Andover High Gets First Woman Principal

By Linda S. Corbett

The Andover School Committee Tuesday night named Mary Athey Jennings of Cambridge Rindge and Latin, as the first woman principal at Andover High.

Her appointment is effective Aug. 15.

Mary Athey Jennings

with a salary of $35,000.

Supt. Kenneth R. Seifert "strongly" recommended Jennings, after a search for a principal who was "scholarly and sensitive," had "high personal and professional standards," and could "place Andover High School more in the community and the community more in the high school."

There were a number of fine candidates, Seifert said, including two finalists from within the system. The decision, he said, was a "most difficult" one.

The committee agreed 4-1 to Jennings' appointment, with Committeeman John Eaton voting "no." While he said Jennings was a good candidate and he wished her "all the success," Eaton said he had been in favor "all along" of one of the candidates from within the system.

Colleague Dick Neal said he too felt there were "very strong" candidates from within the system, who could have done a good job.

But, he said, Jennings "brings a variety of background and leadership styles" to Andover, and he said he felt "very confident" that she would be able to do the job.

School Chairman Joseph Finn agreed that the decision had been difficult, particularly because of the two internal candidates.

"Obviously there was a lot of support on the part of the system and the community for them," he said.

But the question, he said, was "who could best lead the school for the 80's," and he said they had left "no stone unturned" in the search for the right person.

Colleague Michael Giammusso called Jennings "truly outstanding."

"I'm very excited about the direction we're going to be taking," he said. "I really feel she's going to be one outstanding principal."

Committeeman Donald Robb added that it was time to move ahead with "some

Construction Of New Units To Begin

Ground will be broken for 40 new units of elderly housing near Chestnut Court within a month, Andover Housing Authority Director Thomas Walsh reported Tuesday. Construction of the new units should be completed by the fall of 1982.

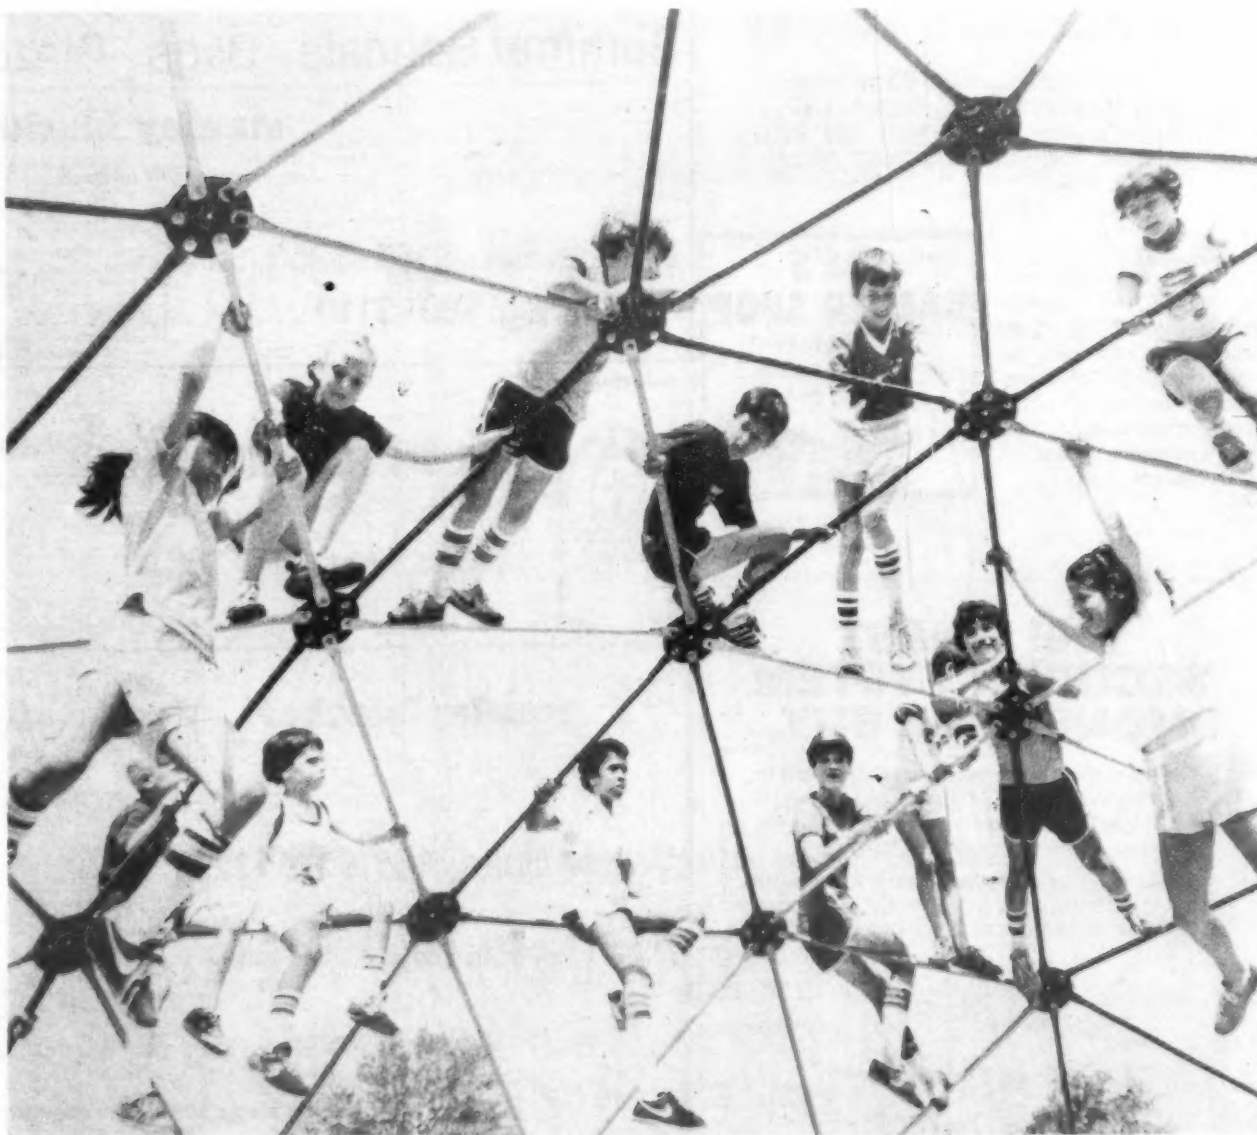

Bids were scheduled to be opened for the $1,400,000, state-aided project today, Walsh said. The town has already received most of the state funds for the project.

The new units will be located next to the Housing Authority's Grandview Terrace units, Walsh explained, overlooking the East Junior High School playing fields.

The new units will be subsidized, Walsh indicated, and tenants will pay 25 percent of their adjusted income. He estimated that the average rent will probably be about $95 per month.

The new units, as yet unnamed, will bring the number of elderly housing units in Andover up to 216. There are currently 40 units at Chestnut Court and 40 at Grandview Terrace, both located off Memorial Circle, and 96 at Frye Circle off North Main Street.

A Pattern of Play

Even though school is out geometry seems to be a favorite subject with these youngsters as they create a unique pattern on the jungle jim. The children are participating in the playground programs sponsored by the Department of Community Services.

Recycling Response Overwhelming

An overwhelming response to Andover's new recycling system last week led to long delays in pickup. By mid-week, collections were a day and a half behind, and Riles' Recycling was prepared to continue through Friday and into Saturday, if necessary, to complete the route.

Many townspeople were concerned that the recycling truck had somehow missed their neighborhood or had not started collecting on the appointed date. Members of Andover Recycling, whose telephone numbers are listed on the new calendar, were pleased with the positive attitudes and strong support of the recycling program by nearly everyone who called. One woman observed that the combined pickup of glass and paper must have slowed down the effort. Residents in several areas which were missed altogether in the last weeks or even the entire month of June had a very large accumulation of recyclables and said after the collections were made in their areas that they were determined to continue recycling, knowing that the pickups would be thorough and would become more efficient in time.

An extra week at the end of June added to the quantity of paper most residents had saved. With collections of all materials every other week there will not be the accumulation of glass there has been in the past — it had been five weeks since the previous clear glass collection, for example. The buildup of paper during an extra week at the end of some months will not occur.

Riles' Recycling and Andover Recycling volunteers thank the people of Andover for their patience and cooperation during the struggles and delays of the first week of the new program's operation. They expect the second pickup week starting July 20 to go more smoothly.

Anthony To Chair Committee

William Anthony, 4 Apple Blossom Road, has agreed to serve as organizing chairman of the group of volunteers who appeared at a recent Conservation Commission meeting. The dozen persons present responded to an article which appeared recently in the Townsman asking for volunteers to form a management group for town-owned conservation land.

The group will address such concerns as promotion of legitimate uses of the lands, protection from vandalism control of motor vehicles and coordinating the activities of Overseers of the various reservations.

Anthony is a veteran of the Conservation Commission of South Glastonbury, CT, and was a founding member of a conservation trust which is active in that town.

The other members of the new Land Management Committee are: Pam Abernathy, Brundrett Avenue; Richard Ballou, Cross Street; George and Edith Cady, Shipman Road; David Dargie, Patricia Circle; Francis Fink, Lincoln Circle; Betty Foley, Juniper Road; Joan Hegarty, Elm Street; Robert Persing, Summer Street; Sam Rosen, Pioneer Circle; George and Edith Snyder, Maple Avenue; Cynthia Townsend, Wolcott Avenue, and Norman Viehmann, Lucerne Drive.

Proposals For Shattuck Requested

Arkwright-Boston Insurance, owner of the three remaining Shattuck Farm buildings, has authorized the Andover Historical Commission to receive proposals from potential developers/buyers to provide for the relocation, preservation and reuse of the Shattuck Farm buildings currently located on Old River Road, Andover. Those interested in submitting proposals should be aware that the transfer of the buildings will include preservation covenants.

Each proposal shall include the following information for evaluation by Arkwright-Boston and the Andover Historical Commission:

1. Number of Shattuck Farm buildings to be relocated;
2. Availability and location of the new site;
3. Earliest date for implementing the proposed project;
4. Proposed reuse for the building(s);
5. Estimated costs of relocation and rehabilitation of buildings;
6. Proof of financial ability to implement this proposal.

Proposals and questions should be directed to Marsha Rooney, Andover Historical Commission, 97 Main St., Andover, MA 01810.

New Motel Construction Underway

Construction of the $2.1 million Koala Inn on River Road is proceeding on schedule. Three stories have been erected and the builder, Cutler Associates of Worcester, is currently putting on the roof.

The company hopes to open the 124-room motel Dec. 1. Koala spokesman Sam Ange said this week.

The town has collected $12,500 in fees on the $2.1 million building permit for the project issued last month.

Rogers Dell Is Open To Public

Rogers Dell, a Conservation Commission property at the corner of Lupine Road and School Street, is open for public use for picnics and other passive recreational use.

In recent months, youngsters have assisted in the cleanup of the area and also obtained funds as a public service project to have picnic tables and benches installed in the area.

Washington Park On Monday Agenda

The impending conversion of the Washington Park apartments on North Main Street into condominiums will probably be the hottest topic on the selectmen's agenda Monday night. The 7:30 meeting is tentatively scheduled to be held at Memorial Hall Library, rather than town hall, because a crowd of Washington Park residents are expected to attend.

Acting Town Manager Tony Torrisi said yesterday the board will discuss the current legal status of the town's new condominium conversion bylaw, which would regulate the Washington Park conversion. The attorney general has disapproved that bylaw, but the town is now appealing that decision.

'Miracle Worker' At Playhouse

Town and Country Playhouse, Salem, N.H., will present William Gison's stirring classic, "The Miracle Worker," the story of Helen Keller, who was born 100 years ago, became blind and mute when very young. Had she not come under the tutoring of Annie Sullivan, who herself had been born blind, her great gift of love and wisdom may never have been realized by the world.

"The Miracle Worker" is performed nightly until July 19. The Town and Country Playhouse is located on Geremonty Drive just off Route 93 at Exit 1.

The emerald was known in ancient times for its alleged power to heal diseases of the eye.

Antique Show On Weekend

Approximately 50 antique dealers from nine different states will assemble in the Grand Ballroom of The Sheraton Rolling Green Inn and Conference Center, Andover, on July 17, 18 and 19.

They will be participating in the First New England Antiques Classic, a show and sale of infinite quality and variety. All of the exhibitors have been carefully selected by Jesse and Rona Kohler of JMC Shows, for their fine quality antiques, outstanding reputations, fairly priced and fully guaranteed merchandise and varied offerings. Many will be exhibiting in the area for the first time.

Show hours on Friday and Saturday, July 17 and 18, will be from noon to 10 p.m. and on Sunday, July 19, from noon to 7 p.m.

Reports From The Playgrounds

Ballardvale

The Ballardvale playground continued to shine during our second week! Kristen Heller, Becky Tynning, Nathaniel Roman and Angie Giuliani all produced some fantastic three-dimensional pictures on Monday, and Adam Heller, Wendy Parker, Tracey Townsend and Wendy Townsend all helped paint a fantastic four-square block on Tuesday, and Katie Roberts became playground Dead-Dog champion by winning three games in a row! On Wednesday the whole playground battled to beat the heat while visiting the New England Clown Chowder. When everyone arrived back at Ballardvale, Reggie Hayes led a trip to Scoops Ice Cream store. Jodi Janagro, Cathy Givliani, Cindy Townsend and Lisa Hayes made some fantastic pinatas on Thursday.

Bancroft

Bancroft Pre-School had a "cool" week. Tuesday was Clown Day with the making of clown hats and playing bean bag games. A magical circus elephant hid peanuts and it took a while to find them all during the peanut hunt. Everyone performed in the circus show and there were lion tamers and lions jumping through hoops. There were even monkeys doing tricks and a lion that could count! Wednesday we all visited the "Two Penny Theatre" and saw the "New England Clown Chowder." The giant zebra was the best and the clowns were really funny!

Thursday we cooled off by running through the sprinkler and made trinket boxes from popsicle sticks. Friday a summer fruit salad in a watermelon was made.

Next week Halloween will be celebrated in July. Tuesday will be bobbing for apples, making jack-o-lanterns and playing donut-on-a-string. There will be prizes for the best costumes. On Wednesday some are going to visit Benson's Wild Animal Farm and on Friday another sprinkler party is planned.

Shawsheen

Shawsheen playground just finished its second week. On Tuesday an artist contest with many fine pictures was held. Wednesday found many travelling to Rec Park to view "New England Clown Chowder" which was greatly enjoyed by all, except for the heat. There have been numerous ways of trying to keep cool — the most effective seems to be dumping water on others. A bit messy, but the children seem to need something to cool off. On Friday the week ended with a cookout and ice cream smorgasbord.

South

South playground was off to another exciting week despite the warm weather. Most of Monday was the planning for a Kooky Carnival that took place on Tuesday. Tuesday was a great success with the day opening up with a makeup session followed by a dressup contest. Joey Liguori, David Corbett and Scott Henry were the dart sharks getting two balloons in only three tries! These games were only a prelude to the main event of the day—the egg toss. The winners were as follows: first place, Kelsey and Suzanne; second place, Scott Henry, with Brian wrapping up third place.

On Wednesday everyone took a short walk to Rec Park for some more clowning around. Clown Chowder was worth the walk, then it was back to the playground for some four-squared. Peter Radulski dominated the fourth block most of the time due to his awesome slamming abilities. By the end of the summer one of the leaders is determined to beat him, although it's going to take a lot of practice.

On Thursday it was a picnic and then another walk to Rec Park for some swimming in Pumps Pond, which proved to be refreshing. Friday a sprinkler party was held to combat the heat and some collage work. Another week is over and summer is flying by so fast. On Wednesday of next week is a trip to Benson's Wild Animal Farm and Thursday is a "come as you are" day. It's supposed to cool off a little. Even if it does, there's one thing for sure—things are always cooking at South.

To Give Concert In Park

On Wednesday evening, July 22, the Town of Andover and the American Federation of Musicians, Local 372, will present the "Mary Karl-Dance Band in Concert" at the park from 6:30 - 8 p.m.

The band consists of 11 swinging gentlemen with Mary up front performing the vocals and countdowns. The band will play the favorite tunes of all the big bands from the thirties to the present, including the top tunes from the latest musicals. Mary will also conduct a sing along.

Performing with the band is pianist and arranger Preston Sandiford of Boston, who is responsible for many of the vocal and band arrangements. Additional arrangements are written by Richard Hayman.

Mary's outstanding performances in the past with such greats as Charlie Barnett, Bobby Hackett, Joe Venuti, Herman Audrey, and Herb Hall has gained her admiration among fellow musicians.

Interns At Woburn Hospital

Joan Lee Rauch of Cross Street, Andover, is engaged in a social work internship at New England Rehabilitation Hospital, Woburn.

"I selected the Rehab Hospital because of its emphasis on family involvement in illness," Rauch said.

She will receive her Master's degree in social work from Boston College Graduate School of Social Work in May 1982.

Rauch is spending full time at the 200-bed Rehab Hospital during the summer and will devote three days a week when school classes resume. Her internship will continue until next May.

Rauch is keenly interested in the psycho-social implications of illness and looks forward to integrating this experience in her career. She believes members of families should be increasingly involved in the treatment and convalescence of a family member and that their needs must be addressed as well.

A licensed certified social worker, she has had extensive training and experience in the social services. In 1974 she received an award from the Merrimack Valley Children's Protective Service for outstanding service on behalf of children.

Rauch began her career in 1958 as a social worker for the Nassau County Department of Public Welfare, N.Y., and then served as a child welfare worker in a similar capacity for the state of New Hampshire.

In 1970 she was, for a brief time, the executive director of the Jewish Family Service in Lawrence. In 1970-71 she served as a social worker for the Division of Child Guardianship, state of Massachusetts, and then served four years as supervisor of social services for the Division of Family and Children's Services in Haverhill.

From 1975-77 she was training specialist in the Lawrence region for the Department of Social Services, and then for two years, supervisor of social services for the state of Massachusetts. For two years Rauch was supervisor of social services in the Protective Services Treatment unit at Lowell, and is now associated with the state department of social services as supervisor, protective treatment unit in Lowell.

Teaching Assistant

Pamela S. Schwartz, daughter of Atty. and Mrs. Maurice Schwartz of Andover, has been awarded a teaching assistantship in legal methods at the University of Connecticut School of Law, where she will be entering her second year as a law student in the fall.

She is employed, for the summer, as a law clerk in a Manchester, CT, law firm.

A 1980 cum laude graduate of Wesleyan University, Middletown, CT, she also graduated, cum laude, from Phillips Academy.

Warning On Wells Issued

17 THE TOWNSMAN, JULY 16, 1981

The Andover Health Department is alerting residents serviced by private wells of the increased incidence of higher than normal arsenic levels recently encountered in nearby communities.

Arsenic has been found in private wells in two Massachusetts communities at levels higher than the EPA drinking water standard (2) of 50 parts per billion (PPB). Levels as high as 550 ppb have been reported, with 14 of 70 wells tested containing arsenic in excess of 50 ppb. Testing by DEQE over the last year found no excess of arsenic in public water supplies.

Arsenic is widely distributed in the environment. The daily intake of arsenic has been estimated to be as high as 900 ug, due primarily to the combined arsenic content of water and food (particularly shellfish). The lowest level of arsenic in drinking water which can produce symptoms of chronic toxicity has not been established.

There seems to be much variability in the sensitivity of individuals. Children might be more sensitive than adults.

Any questions regarding possible evidence of symptoms should be referred to your personal physician. Well water analysis may be performed locally for a reasonable fee. More information and a list of laboratories that are approved for the analysis of arsenic may be obtained by calling Mass. Dept. of Public Health, 617-727-2660, or by writing Director, Environmental Health Assessment, Room 770, 600 Washington St., Boston, MA 02111.

Troop 77 Fun Run Results

The competition was fierce but all in fun at the Troop 77 Fun Run. Carl Schwind held a fun run as his Eagle Scout project this past Sunday. Such local running stars as David Callajhan, alias "Cooler," Steven Paradis and Rick Collins battled it out to win the race. The final standings were Steven Paradis first overall with a blistering time of 16:05. He was followed by Rick Collins, who was then followed by Dave Eckoff. Dave showed a surprising appearance taking the lead pack to a breathtaking 4:58 first mile, demolishing any hope of the other competitors in his age category.

The women also had hot competition with East Junior High track star, Mary Hurley, and Dolyne Divino. It was a disappointing day for Andover High School track star Kelly Shannon as she placed third overall with a time of 21:46. Although all were winners Sunday in the age categories.

Dave Cookson won the 11 and under over his brother, Peter. In the 12-14 age category Eric Shannon and Harry Eckoff battled it out with Eric coming through to be the victor. In the 15-18 age category Dave Eckoff was followed closely by Ernie Costello and Peter Scanlon. Then in the 19-29 category Rick Collins came out the victor over Jeff Cadmus and David Callajhan. Callajhan had a disappointing day as a result of an injury. Bruce Johnson came out the victor over Peter Schwind and John Scileppi and Charles Hayes to win the 30 and over category.

For the women, Mary Hurley fought off seemingly invisible Laura Scileppi in the 12-14 category, while Dolyne Divino came out the victor over Kelly Shannon in the 15-19 category. In the 30 and over category Donnie Suave won with a terrific time of 22:50.

Overall I hope everyone had a good time and I personally thank each one of you for the part you played in helping me to earn my Eagle Scout Badge.

Leading up to that public celebration will be a series of receptions, luncheons, dinners and previews for the museum's trustees, members, family and colleagues in the art and cultural world. The Public Opening on July 22 will be marked by music, colorful banners, a giant 25-foot Chinese dragon, and day-long schedule of lectures, concerts, films and demonstrations.

Among them are local residents Mrs. John J. McArdle, Jr., West Wing Advisory Committee, and Mrs. S. Leonard Kent and Mrs. John W. Kimball, West Wing guides.

The new West Wing will offer the public a dazzling complex of galleries, walkways and educational facilities. In addition to the spacious galleries for special exhibitions and perma-

Further studies have been composition with Hugo Norden, conducting with Allen Lannom and piano with Fredrik Wanger. early in the 19th century a wooden building was erected on the bank of the Spicket River in Methuen and used as a cotton mill. Around the year 1890, Edward F. Searles purchased this structure and remodeled it to house the Methuen Organ Co., where organs of exceptional materials and workmanship were subsequently manufactured. Thus it came about that in 1897 Searles, knowing of the availability of the Boston Music Hall Organ, acquired the instrument and brought it to Methuen. Since the organ had been in storage for several years, reconstruction was started.

20's Party Opens Festival At Castle Hill

The Crane Estate in Ipswich steps back in time this week as the Castle Hill Festival opens its series of Friday and Saturday concert/picnics with a gala outdoor entertainment from the Roaring Twenties. "Castle Hill, 1928," a reconstruction of a lavish private entertainment of the era complete with period jazz, an exhibition of historical dance, antique automobiles, fireworks and audience participation, will be presented at 8:30 p.m. on July 17 and 18 in the outdoor Casino on the estate.

The Festival's Sunday chamber music series continues on July 19 with "The Soft Complaining Flute," a program of solo, vocal and ensemble music by Dutch recorder virtuoso Marion Verbruggen and guest artists, at 5:30 p.m. in the Concert Barn.

Featured performers for the Friday and Saturday concerts will be the 17-piece National Jazz Ensemble under the direction of Chuck Israels. Based in New York, the ensemble includes alumni from the bands of Count Basie, Duke Ellington, Benny Goodman, Charlie Parker and Charles Mingus and is the only big band with a working repertoire ranging from the works of Jelly Roll Morton to the latest compositions of contemporary masters.

For their Castle Hill performances, the ensemble will perform classic pieces of jazz repertoire from the 1920s, compositions that "represent a treasure of American culture which has been largely neglected in live performance," according to Castle Hill Music Director Thomas Kelly. The concert performances will also feature exhibitions of professional dance from the period performed in costume under the direction of Charles Garth and Elizabeth Aldrich of New York's Historical Dance Foundation. A dramatic fireworks display over the Grand Allee will conclude each concert.

Music Director Kelly invites members of the audience to attend the concerts in period costume and to participate in a variety of festivities both before and after the performances. Pre-concert activities will include picnicking on the rolling lawns of the Grand Allee with music by members of the National Jazz Ensemble; the Festival gate will open at 6 p.m. on both evenings to accommodate picnickers. There will also be a display of classic cars, organized by Mr. and Mrs. W. Sidney Felton of Beverly.

Following the concerts, audiences will be invited to dance under the stars on the terrace of the Great House. The evening will also include a screening of the silent film classic, "Our dancing Daughter," in which Joan Crawford makes her screen debut.

For the Sunday concert, Marion Verbruggen will be joined by Dutch mezzo-soprano Lucia Meeuwssen and by Mitzi Meyerson, harpsichord, and Sarah Cunningham, viola da gamba. An internationally renowned recorder artist, Verbruggen is a member of the Amsterdam Baroque Trio and is on the faculty of the Royal Conservatory, The Hague. Both Meyerson and Cunningham are members of Musick for the General Peace, Boston's renowned early music quartet.

Tickets are $10 for the Friday and Saturday concert/picnics, $8 for the Sunday chamber music concert. A discount of $1 per ticket is available for tickets purchased in advance at any of 10 North Shore outlets; full-price tickets are available in advance in Boston at the Bostix Ticket Booth in Quincy Market and in Cambridge at the Out-of-Town Ticket Agency in Harvard Square. Half-price tickets are available to students and senior citizens at the Festival gate on the day of performance.

Fuel Conservation Unit Blocked By Zoning Board

By Sue Aucella Deacon

A Summer Street resident's efforts to conserve fuel by building a passive solar heating unit onto the front of his home have run into a serious roadblock: the Zoning Board of Appeals has ordered the unit removed because it is "detrimental to the character of the neighborhood."

Kenneth Buck of 8 Summer St. plans to appeal that ZBA ruling before the superior court, but he is not optimistic. His chances of "even being heard by the court," Buck said this week, "are probably one in five hundred."

Buck had until today — 20 days from date the ZBA decision was filed on June 26 — to file his appeal with the court. If his appeal is unsuccessful, he will have another 25 days to remove the $500 unit.

Buck believes there is "something very wrong" with the ZBA ruling because "it's so minor. Nobody objects to it."

Zoning Board Chairman Wesley Whitney this week said Buck's dilemma could have been avoided if Buck had informed the building inspector of his intentions to build the unit last June, when he obtained a building permit to enclose an existing porch.

"Then the issue would have come up before he'd spent a nickel on (the solar heating unit)," Whitney commented.

But Buck said it never occurred to him and his son, David, who built the unit, that they would need a ZBA variance to install a solar heating unit.

After enclosing the porch, he explained, David Buck removed the porch steps, and added the solar heating unit in their place. The unit, which slopes toward the street, is five or six inches further away from the lot line than the porch steps used to be, Buck said.

It had to be built onto the front of the house because that is the only southern exposure, he added.

After the Bucks had begun to use the heating unit ("It works, by the way," Buck said), they learned they would have to petition the Zoning Board: first, for a variance to allow the continued existence of their house, which does not meet the minimum setback requirements of the zoning bylaw; and second, for a special permit for the solar heating unit.

David Buck appeared before the zoning board during a public hearing held on June 4.

The board voted unanimously to grant the variance allowing the continued existence of the house. The house, built before the zoning bylaw was enacted, is set back 20 feet from the street in a Single Residence A district, where 30-foot setbacks are required.

But after viewing the solar heating unit on June 6, the board found the unit "unreasonably detrimental to the established and future character of the neighborhood and town, and that such an exception would not be in harmony with the general purpose and intent of the bylaw," according to the ZBA's written decision.

The board decided that the solar unit "increases the nonconformity of the front yard setback" and is "somewhat unsightly because of the proximity to the sidewalk and street."

Buck appeared before the Board of Selectmen last week to complain about the ZBA ruling. He pointed out that no abutters had voiced any opposition to the solar unit during the public hearing. And, he argued, the unit is no more unsightly than other properties in the neighborhood.

The selectmen, however, told Buck they had no jurisdiction over the zoning board, and informed him that he would have to file an appeal with the superior court.

Buck was disappointed by the selectmen's reaction. "I didn't get a fair hearing," he said. "They could have at least listened."

He plans to file his appeal without legal assistance, because hiring an attorney would be too expensive. "I will try to do what I can do as a non-lawyer," Buck said. "It really is a small thing."

If the superior court denies his appeal, he will appeal that decision to the U.S. District Court in Boston, he added, before complying with the order to remove the unit.

But he will not remove the unit himself, Buck said; the building inspector, responsible for enforcing the zoning bylaw, will have to "send his men" to do that.

The Bucks began using the solar unit in March, and before the warm weather set in it shaved $200 off their gas heating bill, Buck indicated. "It absolutely does work," he said. "It's amazing."

He wanted to build the unit not only to

Pole Hill Plans Again Delayed

By Sue Aucella Deacon

The Planning Board will need more time to review definitive plans for a subdivision on Pole Hill in Ballardvale, the planners said Tuesday night, so the deadline for their approval of the plans may be delayed by another month.

The deadline has already been postponed once, from last month to July 22.

The hold-up continues to center around a narrow cart path that winds through the 45-acre subdivision property, owned by developer Arthur Kalogianis of T.D.J. Development Corp.

A group of Ballardvale residents, represented by Atty. Howard Perkins of Center Street, insist that the path leading down to the Shawsheen River is a public way. But the developer's attorney, Reginald Marden of Andover, maintains that the public has no legal claim to the path.

Planning Board Chairman David Gravalles explained that it is still unclear whether the cart path issue should have any bearing on the planners' approval or disapproval of plans for the proposed 69-home "Waterford Place" subdivision.

Special Town Counsel Thomas Arnold will need at least a month to study that question and offer the planners a legal opinion, Gravalles said — thus necessitating another delay in approving the plans.

Gravalles warned engineer Paul Ferrante of Dana F. Perkins Associates, representing the developer, that he did not want the board to end up "negotiating at the eleventh hour, as we did the last time, over whether there would be an extension or not."

It is up to the developer to ask for an extension, and last month, Marden balked at the board's request for a one-month extension. The attorney was not present at this week's meeting.

The planners will also evaluate the way the developer proposes to deal with their recent request that he build a second access road to the subdivision, which would be built around four cul-de-sacs off one long road, "Pole Hill Drive". That road, leading onto Tewksbury Street, was planned to be the only access to the development.

Ferrante said the developer would add a 14-foot wide gravel emergency roadway from the end of one cul-de-sac, "Pembroke Drive", to Center Street. The road would follow a 30-foot wide water main easement.

The board will consult with police and fire department officials, Gravalles said, to see whether a gravel roadway would satisfy their concerns about emergency access to the development.

Building a full-scale road out to Center

Street or Marland Street, as police and fire officials have recommended, could create other safety problems in the area by adding traffic to those narrow streets, the chairman pointed out.

"It's a balance between public safety, versus disturbing the area," he noted. "This might be a good middle ground." Gravalles called the access question "one of the major issues" left to be resolved.

He also questioned the developer's plans to clear the wooded hill of trees. "What are you going to do with the trees?" Gravalles asked. "What percentage will come down?"

Ferrante replied that trees will be cleared along Pole Hill Drive, in front of the house lots and 25 to 30 feet behind the houses. Where there is no regrading, trees will be left standing, he explained.

He added that the developer will not remove more than 2,000 cubic yards of earth material from each house lot — to avoid the requirement for a special gravel removal permit from the Zoning Board.

The planners will continue their discussion of the Pole Hill subdivision next Tuesday night at the Essex Street Theatre Building.

Ayer Man Appointed Business Manager

Introduced as the best in a field of "very well qualified" candidates, Francis "Frank" Paul of Ayer Tuesday night was appointed business manager for Andover schools.

He will begin Monday, at a salary of $30,000 a year.

Paul, who was accompanied at the meeting by his wife, Lois, pledged to the school committee his "unceasing efforts" as the financial challenges of education become more "exciting and demanding."

Supt. Kenneth R. Seifert recommended Paul who, he said, had the technical competence to run a financial structure, and who, through his interviews, had demonstrated an ability to work with a wide variety of people.

School Chairman Joseph Finn added that the administration and committee had had the "delightful dilemma" of choosing among three highly qualified finalists.

But, he said, they had determined that Paul was "THE person who could give us the support and direction we require."

Paul, who received his master's degree in business administration this spring, was business manager of the Ayer, Shirley and Boxborough schools from 1973 to 1980, business manager in Holbrook Public Schools, 1972 to 1973, and purchasing agent in Lowell, 1970 to 1971.

Certified as a school business manager by the State Department of Education, he has been an instructor in the financial aspects of school administration in the Graduate Division of Western New England College, and an instructor in government purchasing for state employees. In May of 1980 he spoke before the President's Commission on Review of Federal Aid to Education, and he had earlier been a speaker-panelist before a Congressional subcommittee on federal aid to elementary, secondary and vocational education. He is a former treasurer of the Special Needs Educational Collaborative, former Massachusetts State Chairman of the Impact Area Schools Association, and a member of the Massachusetts and American Associations of School Business Officials.

Smith, 1265 Salem St., North Andover; Suzanne A. Martin, 116 Lovejoy Road, Andover, and Gail M. Morrisette, 27 Burton Farm Drive, Andover, both computer science majors; Scott G. Nason, 213 Andover St., Andover, a communications major; Julia A. Retelle, 64 Reservation Road, Andover, nursing major, and Charlene A. Merola, 215 Salem St., Andover, special education.

New School Bus Plans

Only In Extreme Cases Will Exceptions Be Made

By Linda S. Corbett

Some three dozen parents whose children will be walkers for the first time come September, appealed to the school committee Tuesday night to reconsider busing them for safety's sake.

Some exceptions to the new busing policy may be forthcoming, they were told, but only in cases of "extreme" danger and only after a review by the police department and a recommendation from the superintendent.

They may not have any definitive answers, the parents were told, until late in August.

Meanwhile, it was suggested that in addition to filing their cases with the superintendent in writing, they go ahead and consider other options such as PTO-sponsored buses, carpools or walking "committees."

The school committee set out Tuesday night to bring the wording in their policy manual into line with new busing limits they set during budget deliberations in the spring. Essentially, they had voted to limit busing to elementary youngsters who live more than a mile and a half from school, instead of a mile, and secondary pupils who live more than two miles, instead of a mile and a half.

Committee Chairman Joseph Finn explained that the new policy "embodies all the discussions of past months...and the position the committee established in the face of opposition from the community."

"We recognized this would pose a problem in the minds of some people who formerly had the service," Finn said, but he added that because of the financial constraints of Proposition 2½, they didn't feel they could continue to provide "street-to-street and door-to-door service." The changes were made in an effort to economize, he said.

(The savings, transportation assistant Kathy Casey said Tuesday night, would be $65,000 from last year's busing tab. However, she said, eight contracts ran out this year, and she said it would be unrealistic to expect the drivers to come in at the same rates they set five years ago. The savings in that extra half mile, she said, would be more like $90,000 to $100,000 for the coming school year.)

Finn said some groups in town are already organizing walker groups, while others are forming car pools or crossing guards "to ensure safety."

Beyond that, he said, the administration had offered central office assistance to help parent groups set up independent buses for youngsters ineligible for town-paid transportation, at a cost of approximately $125 a year per child.

Particularly well represented Tuesday night were parents from the Rattlesnake Hill and Ballardvale areas of the South School district, though Sanborn and West turned out as well. Several of them charged the committee with "insensitivity" to the safety of their youngsters who live in areas with no sidewalks, narrow, winding roads, or other hazards.

"The school committee has always been concerned with safety," Finn replied, but added that they felt it was the school department's responsibility, by state law, to provide schools and programs.

"Safety is not really the charge of the school committee," he said. "We do not have the financial resources to get into that."

He said Supt. Kenneth R. Seifert is free to make recommendations on deviations from the policy, but "not unless a clearly extremely dangerous situation exists."

He said they recognized that there are a large number of roads in town that could be viewed as potentially dangerous. "But because of the dollar situation, we cannot begin to cover all those streets with buses," he said.

Lightning Strikes Residence

A Bartlet Street house was apparently struck by lightning Monday night, setting off a fire in the attic, during the second electrical storm that swept through the area that day.

According to Deputy Fire Chief Harold Hayes, Engines 2 and 3, the aerial platform, and an ambulance responded to a call from Mr. and Mrs. John Roulston of 59 Bartlet St. at 8:47 p.m.

The Roulstons called the department after Ronald Fee of 92 Woburn St. warned them that he had noticed smoke rising from their attic.

Under Deputy Robert Boush, firefighters spent one hour and 42 minutes putting out the fire, which was confined to the attic, Hayes said. No one was hurt.

There was "heavy smoke" in the attic, and some water damage to a second-floor bedroom below the attic, he reported. The house is owned by Arthur Heifetz of 77 Wildwood Road.

Discussing History

Connolly Visits Shattuck Farm

On Thursday, July 9, Secretary of State Michael Joseph Connolly visited the Shattuck Farm on River Road in Andover to view the progress of an archeological survey that began in the winter of 1980. Pre-historic and historic research was conducted on Shattuck Farm by the Massachusetts Historical Commission, a division within the Secretary of State's office with the financial assistance of the Catherine G. Shattuck Memorial Trust.

The surviving structures of historical and archeological significance include two 18th century farmhouses, 19th century farmworker's cottage, and a country store, as well as seven prehistoric sites dating from the late Archaic Period (3,000-500 B.C.) and the Woodland Period (500 B.C. European Contact).

Connolly congratulated representatives from the Shattuck Farm Memorial Trust, Andover Historical Society, Andover Historical Commission and the Shattuck Farm archeological field crew on their involvement in the project. Also applauded for their help in the project were Hewlett-Packard Corporation and Digital Equipment, owners of the property. Both have pledged a financial contribution for publication purposes.

In addressing the group, Connolly said, "It is a rare occasion when I am given the opportunity to speak to preservationists and businessmen at the same moment. It is the uniqueness of this particular project survey that I hope will serve as a model for similar undertakings in our state as well as all of historic New England."

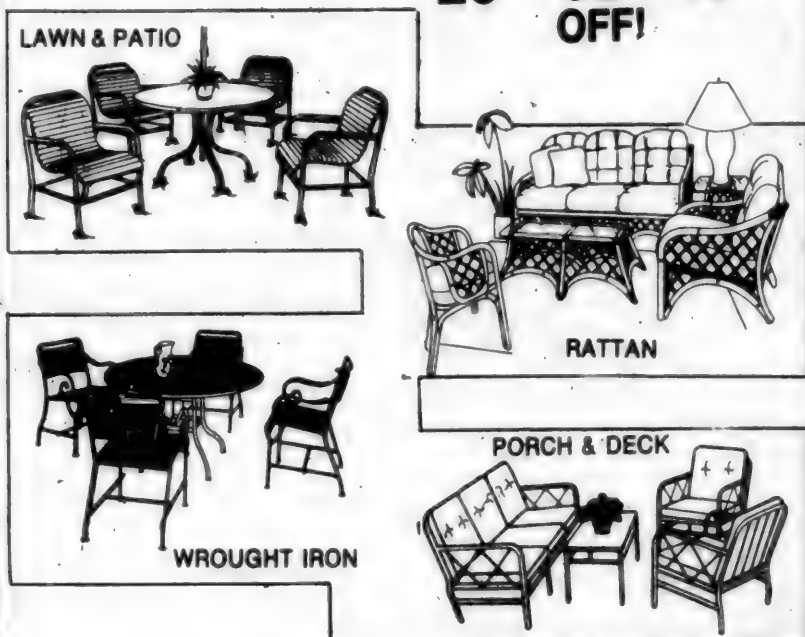

This event marks the first time the Massachusetts Historical Commission has taken an active role in a privately funded field research

A Question Of Condos

Andover quite obviously does not want condominium development and will go to court to uphold their objection.

The question at the moment is the conversion of the Washington Park complex from apartments to condominiums, much to the dislike of many of the present occupants.

Those strongest in objection are the retired persons who had hoped to maintain residence in Andover only under less restrictive financial obligation that single home ownership represents.

To this end many supported adoption of a bylaw at town meeting this year, which would allow persons residing in an apartment complex slated for conversion to condominiums time to find alternate housing.

The attorney general has denied the town the right to adopt such a bylaw in a ruling handed down a week ago.

Selectmen have authorized town counsel to pursue the case in the Superior Court with an eye toward protection of the Washington Park residents as well as other multi-family complexes in the community.

It would appear the town has a substantial case, based on a number of facts.

With regard to the Washington Park complex specifically, the land was originally agricultural and permission granted for apartment development and not single family units which condominium conversion would represent. The effect of altering a special permit granted for the apartment development several years ago will be one of the tests presented to the court for decision.

Another strong point, one must assume, is the town's consistent objection to condominiums in general.

Twice within the past year, town meeting has been asked to provide regulations governing the construction of condominiums in Andover. One was at a special session with a specific site in mind—Andover Street and Argilla Road.

This was rejected with the promise that the planning board would return in the spring with a bylaw drafted with the aid of consultants and time to provide what planners felt would be necessary safeguards for the town.

Again, voters rejected the theory of multi-family housing units in any part of town.

While some might contend that there is a place for condominium development in Andover, and we might consider ourselves as among them, the town has clearly shown through votes of a substantial nature, that such construction and development in Andover is not wanted.

Another example could be the rejection of conversion of the former Abbot Academy property to a congregate life-care facility a few years ago.

There is, of course, the question of how strictly a community can enforce its feelings and desires on a property owner. One apartment complex in town already has undergone conversion to condominiums within the past year.

While court action in such cases can sometimes be costly and time consuming, it would appear that the decision to appeal the ruling of the attorney general in this case is a wise move.

The decision of the court will most certainly provide the town with a basis for future action with regard to the multi-family or condo issue.

Indeed there has been enough time and energy spent on the issue by the planning board and their aides over the past several months to warrant the obtaining of a decisive direction, in view of the realization that further attempts at condo development in the town are inevitable. Also current residents of apartment complexes are entitled to some assurance that they will be able to maintain a residence in rental property.

Down The Years With The Townsman

75 Years Ago — July 1906

The proprietors of the local blacksmiths shops have entered into an agreement to close the shops on Saturday afternoons during the months of June, July, August and September. Those who will close are: Anderson & Bowman, Morrison & O'Connell, Dennis Sweeney and Andrew Thompson.

As a result of the hailstorm last Saturday afternoon several windows were broken in Abbott Village. Some of the pieces of ice measured an inch in diameter.

Charles Hudson who left Andover on Monday morning for Denver, Colorado, was presented with a dress suit case by his fellow workmen in the hackling department of the Smith and Dove mills, Saturday.

The new floral scarf — long and supple as a length of softest crape or chiffon — is the novelty of the hour in Paris. These charming items of feminine attire are becoming very popular with theatregoers and, writes a French correspondent, I have seen really lovely specimens made of pure white violets and of tiny dog roses.

There is no expenditure of state money that is setting itself out to view quite so prominently these days as the expenditures for state highways. We have quite a generous slice spread out before us here in Andover, but to get the full impression of the entire great work in this comparatively new department of the state's activities, one needs to travel over different parts of the state.

50 Years Ago — July 1931

The beautiful grounds surrounding the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Johnson of Central Street provided an ideal setting for the garden fete given Wednesday afternoon for the benefit of the Lawrence General hospital. The perfection of a summer day interrupted only by a slight shower in the late afternoon contributed to the success of the occasion.

Dr. John C. Bowker has returned to his home in Lawrence after completing his fortieth trip abroad. His last venture was to Cambodia and the famous Angkor Wat built by the vanished Khmers. His travels, surpassed by few, now include 142 countries of the globe.

A colorful pageant given on the lawn of the Central schools Thursday afternoon before a large gathering of parents and friends demonstrated effectively what is being done in the public schools of Andover to promote health among the children. Music, dancing, gay costumes, hundreds of healthy children playing in the sunshine contributed to an occasion unique in the annals of the local schools.

Knowlton Stone, son of Judge and Mrs. Colver J. Stone of Locke street, was the winner of the Ludorum championship cup awarded for the best all around performance at a recent track meet held between London University, Oxford and Cambridge, the biggest event in London track circles. Stone was entered in the shot-put, discus, hammer and javelin throw, placing first in each event.

25 Years Ago — July 1956

The school committee has requested frequent progress reports on the West and Shawsheen school additions. The school committee took the contractor to task Tuesday night because he now has been working for seven months on the West school addition — when he originally allowed only five months for the job.

The selectmen have agreed to have two flags flown in front of town hall on patriotic holidays. Nimrod Olsson of the Amesbury Flag Shop, who is handling arrangements to have flags flown along Main street on the holidays, appeared before the board Monday night. He asked that flag holders be installed in front of the town building to keep the continuity of the display along Main street.

Hundreds of parishioners, town officials and friends from the Greater Lawrence area will honor the Rev. Patrick J. Campbell, O.S.A., pastor of Saint Augustine's church, Saturday night. Fr. Campbell, for six years pastor of Saint Augustine's, will leave the parish this Monday to go to the Chapter in Villanova. The testimonial dinner will be held in Merrimack College auditorium.

Enough polio vaccine to give all first shots — pre-school, pre-natal, clinic, private and throughout the schools — has been received by the board of health. Chairman Charles O. McCullom said the board expects the full amount of vaccine by tomorrow and hopes to have completed all first shots by the end of next week.

Tyer Rubber Company has completed final arrangements for its gigantic "Open House" celebration to be held at the company plant on Railroad street on Saturday. Wallace E. Brimer, Tyer's president, in announcing the celebration emphasized that this is Tyer's way of expressing thanks to all the people in the Greater Lawrence area for having contributed to Tyer's remarkable growth and success over the past 100 years.

10 Years Ago — July 1971

Members of town departments and commissions have been requested to meet with the selectmen Monday night to discuss use of town-owned land with regard particularly to such things as mini-bikes. Town Manager J. Maynard Austin said this week that the problem of mini-bikes is a great one and thus the decision to call together such departments as public works, conservation commission, recreation department, police and fire officials, school authorities and the selectmen.

At a public meeting next Thursday at East Junior High school, Dr. Kenneth R. Seifert, Supt. of Schools, will give the community a status report at the end of his first two years as superintendent of schools in Andover. The superintendent told the TOWNSMAN he would "try to communicate where we are as a system, outline some of our successes and failures of the past two years, and give my recommendations to the town."

School Buses

"We have a limited amount of money to spend and we will spend it at the school," he said, particularly this year "when we're turning teachers out onto the street."

Marty Radack, 4 Dundas Avenue, presented a petition signed by some 50 people in the Dundas-Rattlesnake Hill Road area and his wife, Alice, subsequently invited the committee to take a walking tour from Dundas to South School.

"There are no sidewalks along Woburn Street," she said, and added that a crossing guard would be "virtually useless" because there are so many places one would be necessary. There is a great deal of construction going on in the area, she went on, adding that "a truck driver can't see a small child when he's backing out."

The isolation of the area is another concern, she said: there have been two rapes there in recent months. And a car pool, she said, would be a safety factor in itself.

"Will there be coordination in front of the school?" she asked, maintaining that there will be chaos when walkers, bicycles, buses and cars all converge on the building at the same hour.

Radack said that they do have one other alternative: to send their youngsters to the Traditional Program at West Elementary School. Because they live more than a mile and a half away, he said, the town would have to bus them.

Seifert said they were welcome to apply for the program, which operates on a first-come, first-served basis, but is limited to 300 pupils.

Mrs. Radack said she felt that the traditional program was a special service provided by the system, so that parents who took advantage of the traditional program should be the ones to pay for their youngsters.

"If they choose to do something very special, THEY should pay for it," she said, "not the entire community."

Radack asked if state aid could be used to reinstate busing, and Finn replied that the budget was fixed. Any funds that might be forthcoming would go toward reducing taxes, he said.

Committeeman Donald Robb said that another town meeting would have to be called to allow the money to be used for busing and Colleague John Eaton recalled another problem caused by 2½.

"Up to last November," he said, "we could go back and get the money to solve a problem." The school committee has lost its ability to go back because of 2½, he said. Anyway, he concluded, "busing has not been put back to where it has in other towns."

Even if the selectmen did call a town meeting, Finn said, the committee would have to go back and review all the areas where money had been cut.

"I will not allow the committee to be put in the spot of saying that transportation will get the first dollars available," he said. "All the other people with a vested interest would be coming out at us as well."

Edward Tarr, performing on the baroque trumpet, will give a concert July 26 at Castle Hill, Ipswich.

"A lot of people are equally upset with us because we've cut some other things out of the budget," he said. "People all over the state have problems because of 2½. This is one of the manifestations."

But there's another group, he said, that feels getting their children to school is their business. They're the people who say keep the teachers and keep the programs."

Ira Barrie of Rattlesnake Hill Road said that "If we don't have peace of mind about how our kids get to school, who cares if they go to school?"

"I don't really care about your athletics or academic programs as much as I care about my kid," he went on.

Rosemary Radulski, 7 Bradley Road, said her three children will have to walk "1.3 unsafe miles to South School." She said they will have to cross both the railroad tracks and the river. She said there are three trains in the morning and three in the afternoon, and that the train from Tewksbury to Haverhill has been clocked going through at 60 to 70 miles per hour.

"We consider these hazards above and beyond the call of duty," she said.

She said she had contacted the police chief, who told her he had no more money for crossing guards, and that it wasn't their problem, but the school department's problem.

"Those were the police chief's exact words to me," she said.

On the other hand, Radulski said she lives less than a mile from Sanborn. She said she could cross her kids at one street and they could walk the rest of the way safely.

"I'd be glad to have them walk one mile down to Sanborn," she said.

Seifert said the police chief had said he would personally review the letters that come to the superintendent regarding the safety of certain areas. "I'm not about to get into an argument with the police chief," he said.

Finn added that public safety is a town-wide problem, and that the police chief was certainly not going to say he'll provide men, just as the selectmen are not going to come forward and say they're going to build sidewalks.

Rusty Dunbar, chairman of the Finance Committee, said she heard some parents "saying over and over again that they're concerned about the safety of their children."

She said she had been aware of the committee's deliberations, which started well before 2½, and that she could vouch for their concern for safety, even though they might "sound as though they're being very arbitrary tonight."

"They've been working on it for a long time," she said, "and have concluded that their primary responsibility is education...and your primary responsibility is the safety of your children."

Robb concluded that the school committee has a responsibility to be concerned about safety, "but the solution may not be in another bus route. It may be to say, 'Yes, this is a dangerous area,' and to suggest a rotating committee of parents to help the children reach school safely."

Finn suggested that any parents concerned about safety in their area articulate that concern, in writing, to the superintendent. Hopefully, he said, the police department would have had a chance to review the appeals before the school committee meets Aug. 11. Committeeman Mike Giammusso said he felt "various bodies in the Town of Andover have been negligent in providing safe means of walking in many areas of town. He suggested contacting the selectmen and the planning board and asking them for sidewalks in areas that don't have them, on a priority basis, and for mandatory sidewalks in new developments.

"It's time we got it off our backs," he said of the pedestrian woes.

He said he wanted feedback from the police department on what areas were safe or not safe, so deviations would result from a set process, and "not from who is most able to drum up the largest head count at a meeting."

U.S. gets little thanks for aid to neighbors abroad

By Jack Anderson and Joe Spear

WASHINGTON — True charity, we are told, enriches the giver. And the truly charitable don't need gratitude to feel good about doing the right thing.

In this context, the American taxpayers may be the most truly charitable people in the world. The millions our government gives to help disaster victims abroad often bring not the slightest thanks or even acknowledgment.

This isn't peanuts we're talking about. The Agency for International Development has been giving out more than $700 million a year for disaster relief. The money has gone to earthquake victims in Italy and Romania, refugees in Cyprus and the people of wartorn Nicaragua.

Auditors at AID have followed up some of these assistance programs. Their findings show that gratitude is in short supply on the international scene.

Take Cyprus, for example. The United States has been the biggest contributor by far to the United Nations aid fund there. A U.S. contribution of $875 million made possible a handicrafts center on the island. U.S. inspectors visited the center recently and found a plaque acknowledging the help of the Greek government and the United Nations. But there was no mention of the United States.

In Nicaragua, AID provided a $15 million loan to stimulate production and employment. Once again, little credit was given by the Nicaraguan government. In fact, in some places where AID posters were put up, they were promptly torn down by anti-Yankee Nicaraguans.

In Romania, the United States offered $20 million in reconstruction aid following a devastating earthquake a few years ago. AID auditors weren't even allowed to go near some of the equipment we sent the Romanians to perform audits. At least, in this case, the Romanian government did express its thanks for our assistance.

HILL EXPLOSION: Since 1960, the number of U.S. senators has stayed the same. Four non-voting delegates have been added to the House.

But in that same time period, the size of the congressional staff has more than doubled — from 7,000 to almost 18,000. Members of Congress used to be given a maximum of two rooms. Now they have a minimum of three.

To take care of the exploding population, congressional office buildings have been spreading over Capitol Hill like a granite glacier.

But apparently this growth has only increased Congress's appetite for more. The Capitol Architect has just spent more than four years and $450,000 on a master plan for the future.

What the Capitol Architect envisions is a so-called "congressional enclave" that will seal Congress off from the real world around it. Landscaping techniques will be used to construct a border around this concrete Casbah.

We have been assured that the congressional enclave won't be exactly a Forbidden City like the one in old Peking. Tourists and other members of the public will actually be allowed to visit.

But the master planners have made it clear that the only people they're really concerned about are the 535 members of Congress. To a lesser degree, they worry about the comfort of the congressional staff. After that, they may spare a few thoughts for the neighbors on Capitol Hill. Last and quite least are those nuisances from the rest of America — the taxpayers who are paying for it all.

One of the first targets on the planners' hit list is the modest parking lot outside the East Front of the Capitol building. It will be put underground so the lawmakers won't be offended by the sight and sound of delivery trucks and trash collectors.

They also want to screen out the railroad line that runs just south of the House office buildings. The architects want to build a few more office buildings that would shield the congressional compound from the trains.

To the north, the planners would like to add some more Senate office buildings, and to the East, they would like to have the Supreme Court moved out.

To the west lies the Washington mall and its magnificent monuments. That inspiring view apparently will remain unobscured.

Ruthers Go 7-3 In Canada

Kraig Burzlaff

... hits .417 and strong defense

Billy Lane

... bats .455 in Canada

By Rick Harrison

Sparked by some timely hitting and solid pitching in the majority of its games, the combined Andover Blue and Gold 13-15 year old Babe Ruth baseball team chalked up a 7-3 record during its recent six-day, 10-game excursion to Montreal, Canada.

A total of 33 Andover youngsters and 11 chaperones participated in the organization's 11th annual trip to Montreal, and this year's results left Andover teams with a 27-9 ledger overall against Canadian competition.

The Andover Blue-Gold squad was comprised of 30 players ages 13 to 15 and two additional older players. They were matched against five Montreal area teams consisting of youngsters ages 14 and 15, and five other teams with youngsters ages 16, 17 and 18.

The busy schedule began with a rain-shortened 9-0 romp over the Cote St. Luc Avengers.

The game listed for the following evening was postponed by wet grounds, but the weather then broke and the Andover Blue-Gold crew proceeded to play three games each of the next three days.

On Saturday Andover opened with a 5-0 loss to the Terrebonne A Bantams, but then bounced back to defeat the Terrebonne A Midgets, 5-2, and the Loyola Maroon Midgets, 8-5.

Sunday brought a clean sweep for the locals, as they blanked the West Island Bantams, 4-0, trimmed the West Island Midgets, 9-6, and dumped the Dollard AA Bantams, 4-1.

With a 6-1 record at this point, Andover Blue-Gold faltered somewhat on Monday. The NDG Bantam Bears scored two unearned runs in the bottom of the eighth enroute to a 7-6 extra-inning victory, and Andover closed by splitting a doubleheader with the Strong Dollard AA Midget All-Stars. The locals rallied for a 6-5 triumph in the opener, but then dropped the nightcap 7-4.

Making the trip from Andover were Scott Zimmerman, Dave Laporte, Billy Vickers, Kurt Smith, Rob Wilson, Brett Larrabee, Mark Lefebvre, Mike Gibson, Steve Dougal, Tom Powers, Lary Larrabee and Fred Foote.

Also Kraig Burzlaff, John Geiger, Billy Lane, Bob Rikeman, Mark Grams, Mike Surrette, Bill Weidman, Robbie Wilson, Brian Finnerty and Tom Lutz.

Also Rick Dunn, Shane Smith, Jeff Penner, Mark Doherty, Bob DiTroia, Kevin Rourke, John Nuzzo, Scott Wilkins, Rob Carpentier, Paul Oshan and Nick Lembo.

Andover, 9-0

Although the opening game was shortened by rain, the Blue-Gold crew still managed one homerun, three triples and a double in its 9-0 massacre of the Cote St. Luc Avengers.

Mark Lefebvre and Mark Grams combined to pitch a one-hit shutout, allowing only a scratch infield single to Avengers' leadoff batter mark Eichler in the top of

Tigers Take Town Title

By Dan Grams

For the second straight year, the Andover American League Tigers captured the Andover Little League Town Championship by defeating the National League champion Giants in a best of three game series, two games to one.

The Giants took the series' opener with an impressive 5-0 no-hit victory, as Giant ace Chris Colsia was simply overpowering. The Tigers retaliated the following night with a thrilling 3-2 victory. Game three featured a real slugfest as Tiger star Earl Abdo cracked a pair of towering home runs to lead the Bengals past the Giants 13-7, giving the Tigers the town title.

Giants 5-0

Giant right-hander Chris Colsia turned in a brilliant performance as he was simply overpowering in no hitting the Tigers. Colsia's gem marked this first time ever that a no-hitter was thrown in post season play.

Colsia was in total command throughout only allowing two balls to leave the infield, striking out nine and walking two. The win upped Colsia's personal record to 8-1.

Tiger hurler David Rourke was the tough-luck loser tossing a 7-hitter, striking out four and walking just one Giant. Rourke was a victim of some shabby Tiger defense as they committed three errors, leading up to all five Giant runs.

The Giants jumped to a quick 1-0 lead in their home half of the first as leadoff batter Ryan Murphy reached base via an error. Murphy advanced to second on a passed ball and then to third on a Rob Moody safety. Colsia followed with an RBI double to plate Murphy with Moody holding at third. Rourke then beared down and escaped further damage by retiring the next three Giant batters in order.

The Giants picked up another unearned run in the second as Dave Wade reached on an error, taking second on a passed ball. Dana Orlando then walked and with two down, Rob Moody delivered his second straight single for the run.

The Tigers, still trying to catch up with Colsia's overpowering fastball, mounted their only serious offense in the fourth. Dave Rourke led off with a screaming liner, but Giant rightfielder Wade flagged it down. After Colsia retired Tiger cleanup hitter Earl Abdo on strikes, John Moosa's long fly ball was dropped with Moosa taking second. Colsia then subdued Tiger Keith Dauber to pop up to end the inning.

The Giants then put the game out of reach with three insurance markers in the fifth. Moody reached base for the third straight time on the Tigers' error. Colsia then stepped up and unloaded a deep fly ball to left. Tiger leftfield made a nice running catch, going away to Rob Colsi of extra bases and keeping the game at 2-0. Troy Bloom then ripped a single to put men on first and second. Mark Polakow cleared the bases with a riple and first-year player Jamie O'Hara closed the scoring with an RBI single.

Moody and Polakow had two hits apiece, while Colsia, Bloom and O'Hara chipped in with single safeties.

Tigers Retaliate

The Tigers bounced right back the following night to even the series at one with a thrilling 3-2 win. A pitcher's balk call in the bottom of the sixth provided the winning margin and kept the Tigers alive.

The Tigers drew first blood in the bottom of the first with a pair of runs. Ray Rourke laced a one out single to left, Dave Rourke then drilled a hard ground ball up the middle with Ray heading for third, but Giant centerfielder Chris Colsia quickly retrieved the ball and threw a perfect strike to nail Rourke. Earl Abdo's fly ball was then misplayed, putting men on second and third with Moosa coming to the plat. Moosa came through with a clutch two-out double to put the Tigers out front 2-0.

The Giants were having all sorts of tough luck trying to find the holes to put men on, were being robbed right and left by a Tiger defense who had committed three errors the night before.

hander Mike Hein for a run in the third and sent Hein to the showers in the fourth. Giant leftfielder Mark Polakow led off with a long fly ball to left-center for extra bases. Polakow tried to stretch it into a triple, but Keith Dauber unloaded a strong throw to just get Polakow.

Carl Abdo was then summoned to put out the fire and the big righthander proceeded to retire the side.

The Tigers were having trouble as well offensively, as Giant starter David Pratt had settled down after a rough first inning. Since the two-run first, the Tigers could only manage two hits going into the sixth.

The Giants tied the ball game at two all with a single tally in the top of the fifth. Jackie Dalton drew a one-out walk, stole second, and raced home on Zack Bensley's single.

The game appeared to be headed for extra innings going into the sixth with Pratt getting stronger as the innings went on. But the Tigers had different ideas.

Dave Rourke ripped a leadoff triple and was stayed at third on an Abdo rope that knocked down. Abdo then stole second setting the stage for Pratt's balk ending the game with a one and one count on Tiger-hitter John Moosa. Pratt hesitated in his pitching motion resulting in a balk being called and the end to a very exciting contest.

Rourke and Moosa led the victors with two hits, while Abdo had the other key Tiger hit.

Chris Colsia paced the Giants with two safeties, while Polakow, Bensley and Jamie O'Hara had the other hits.

Keith Dauber, Ray Rourke, Dave Rourke and Scott Wallace all played well defensively.

Tigers Triumph

The Tigers were more than ready for the rubber match between the two teams as their bats proved. Earl Abdo led an awesome Tiger-hitting display with two towering homeruns, and 11-year-old Scott Wallace turned in a strong pitching performance as the Tigers successfully defended their town title 13-7.

Wallace sported an outstanding control game, baffling the Giant big hitters with a sneaky fastball and equally effective changeup.

The Giants simply ran out of pitchers, using a host of debut hurlers which included Ryan Murphy, Dave Wade, Rob Moody, Troy Bloom and Dana Orlando.

The Tigers notched five markers in the top of the first. Scott Wallace opened the game with a single off losing pitcher Murphy. Ray Rourke singled and Dave Rourke walked to fill the bases. Earl Abdo stepped up and promptly deposited a 1-0 offering over the left field fence for a grand slam homerun. The Tigers other run was highlighted by John Moosa and Jamie Clark singles.

The Giants showed they wanted this game just as bad with their own hitting display. Rob Moody and Chris Colsia delivered back to back singles and with two away. Mark Polakow ripped a long double accounting for the Giants two runs in the first.

The Tigers continued their assault on Giant pitching in the second after a Dave Rourke double. Earl Abdo drilled a ball well over the fence in left, which landed in the swamp.

The Giants again came back swinging in their home half. As Dave Wade and Dave Pratt ripped singles, both runners moved up on an infield out and scored on a bloop-er that was hit down the right field line. Tiger first baseman Dave Rourke made an outstanding diving catch going away. Unfortunately, when Rourke got up, one run and scored and the other was about to cross.

The Tigers padded their lead in the third highlighted by Dave Vickers' double to drive in two runs.

The Tigers also added markers in the fifth and sixth stanzas with Vickers, Abdo, and Rourke picking up the ribbies.

The giants attempted a sixth-inning comeback, but it was a matter of getting too little too late.

Abdo had a night that many Little Leaguers can only dream about as his two Jamie Clark also played a big part in the Tiger barrage with two hits.

Zack Bensley, Dave Pratt, Dave Wade and Rob Moody were the other Giant hitters.

Moosa, Steve Howe and Doug Howe were defensive standouts for the Tigers.

Road Race For Jogger Safety

Saucony Running Shoes has announced plans for its "Share the Road" 10-kilometer National Championship in Cambridge on Sept. 20.

The 6.2-mile event, open to all runners and joggers, will start at 9 a.m. in front of the Hotel Sonesta.

Saucony created its "Share the Road" race series to help stem the rising incidence of runners being hit by cars. According to National Safety Council figures, 30,000 runners and walkers are struck by automobiles each year in the U.S.

Radio station WROR-FM 98.1/2 will broadcast race information and runner safety messages over the air during the month of September, and the Hotel Sonesta has donated its facilities and prizes for the race.

Runners may register for the "Share the Road" finals by filling out and mailing back race entry forms at running stores throughout the greater Boston area. Out of town runners may obtain entry forms by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to "Saucony Share The Road," 353-T North Market Place, Boston, MA 02109. Runners in the Boston metropolitan area may register in person, beginning Aug. 3, at the following locations: Marathon Sports, 1654 Mass. Ave. and Hyde Factory Outlet, 535 Windsor St., Cambridge; Bill Rodgers Running Center, 353-T North Market Place, Boston. Registration hours are between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

The only other Coté St. Luc baserunner reached on an error to open the second stanza, as Lefebvre and Grams whiffed three and didn't walk a batter. The Avengers didn't hit a ball out of the infield.

Andover scored the only run necessary in the second when John Geiger walked, took third on an error, and scored on Lefebvre's infield out.

The winners made it 3-0 in the third. Rob Wilson doubled, advanced to third on a balk, and raced home on Grams' infield out. Dave Laporte then singled and circled the bases on Billy Vickers' triple.

A six-run fourth sealed the victory, with the key blows a long two-run triple by Kraig Burzlaff, a run-scoring triple by Grams, a two-run single by Laporte, and a bases-empty opposite-field homerun by Vickers.

Vickers finished the game 3-for-3, including a homerun and triple, while Laporte and Rob Wilson were both 2-for-3.

Burzlaff at second base, Geiger at short-stop and Grams during his stint at third were all defensive standouts.

Terrebonne Bantams, 5-0

Terrebonne Bantam A righthander Shawn Ryan was the only Canadian pitcher to effectively shackle the Andover Blue-Gold bats on the trip, as he fashioned a masterful five-hit shutout at Loyola Park.

The winners managed only five basehits themselves, but bunched four of them in the fifth frame when they broke open a tight 1-0 game.

Pat Cassidy's RBI single in the bottom of the second gave Terrebonne its 1-0 edge, and the pivotal fifth featured run-producing doubles by Simon Cote, Cassidy and Jack Roberts.

Andover threatened in the second, loading the bases on walks to Billy Lane, Bob Rikeman and Kraig Burzlaff. However, Ryan extricated himself from the jam on a two-out tapper to the mound.

A single by Mark Grams and two-out double to leftfield by mark Lefebvre had Ryan in trouble again in the third, but another one-hopper to the mound ended the scoring bid.

The final Blue-Gold threat came in the top of the seventh, when Brian Finnerty and Tom Lutz walked, but a shallow fly to rightfield and a routine grounder to short-stop preserved Ryan's shutout.

Dave Laporte and Rob Wilsom chipped in harmless singles for Andover.

Infielders Burzlaff and Laporte were defensive standouts and Larrabee to a 5-2 decision over the Terrebonne Midgets at Loyola Park.

The loss was only the second of the season for Terrebonne, whose Bantam team had lifted its record to 10-1 with the earlier 5-0 win over Andover.

Larrabee fired a four-hitter, walking four and striking out eight, and he pitched no-hit ball from the fifth inning on.

Terrebonne drew first blood in the bottom of the third when Jim Blanchini reached on a two-out walk, stole second, and scored on a single by Fran Mendoza.

Blue-Gold came back with three runs in the top of the fourth, doing all the damage against starting pitcher Serge Momesso after two were out.

Mike Gibson drilled a double. Kurt Smith stroked an RBI single. Scott Zimmerman singled, and Tom Powers followed with a clutch two-run single to leftfield to break the 1-1 deadlock.

Terrebonne came back with a run in the bottom of the fourth on doubles by Momesso and Joe Berros, but Larrabee effectively slammed the door thereafter.

A Dave LaPorte double went unrewarded in the fifth, but Andover earned some breathing room with a pair of seventh inning runs.

Brett Larrabee slapped a one-out single to rightfield, pinch-runner Kraig Burzlaff stole second, Lary Larrabee hammered an RBI triple, and Mike Gibson lashed a two-out RBI single.

Larry Larrabee, Laporte and Gibson powered the 10-hit Andover offense with two safeties apiece. Laporte slugging a pair of doubles, while Momesso paced Terrebonne with two hits.

Zimmerman in leftfield (doubleplay) and Laporte at first base were defensive standouts.

Andover, 8-5

Lefthander Billy Vickers and righty John Geiger combined for a six-hitter, with Geiger fanning five during his stint, as Andover stopped the Loyola Maroons 8-5 at Loyola Park.

Blue-Gold wasted little time in this game, vaulting to a 3-0 lead in the top of the first on an RBI double by Lary Larrabee and run-scoring singles from Mike Gibson and John Geiger. Mark Grams produced the other hit in the stanza, a sharp single to centerfield to open the contest.

The Loyola Midgets came back with an unearned run in the first, as Louis Buonamici was safe on an infield error and scored on Derek Mitakis's basehit.

With two down in the Andover second Grams reached on an error, stole second base, and sped home on Billy Vickers' single.

Vickers then stole, and Lary Larrabee followed with a single, but losing hurler Henri Lauluma whiffed the next batter to avoid further damage.

Loyola made it 4-2 in the last of the second when Lauluma tripled and Michel Boire singled, and the host team added an unearned run in the third after an error and consecutive singles by Vin DoBrusky and Mitakis.

Andover sent eight men to the plate and scored three runs in the fourth, boosting its lead to 7-3.

Rob Wilson smacked a leadoff single and promptly stole second and third. Bob Rikeman walked, and Wilson raced home when Mark Grams' infield grounder was misplayed. Kraig Burzlaff bunted both runners into scoring position, and Lary Larrabee responded with a sharp two-run single to rightfield.

Fred Foote singled Larrabee to third and stole second, but a subsequent strikeout and bounce to the mound prevented further trouble.

Loyola produced a pair of unearned runs in the fifth, taking advantage of two Andover errors, but Geiger was untouchable the rest of the way.

The final Blue-Gold tally came in the sixth when Wilson walked, stole second, and zipped home on Rikeman's single.

Larry Larrabee sparked the 10-hit Andover assault with a perfect 3-for-3 afternoon, while Mark Grams scored three runs and Rob Wilson two.

Bill Weidman also laced a single, and solid defensive play came from infielders Grams, Burzlaff and Geiger.

Geiger, after being badly clefted just two plays earlier, came up with one of the finest individual efforts of the trip to end the third inning. Ranging far to his left, he gloved a hot grounder that took a bad hop and gunned down the runners at first.

Andover, which stole 41 bases in the 10

Geiger No-Hitter Highlights Action

By Howard Larrabee

Andover Blue upped its record to 5-2 with two wins and one loss in Greater Lawrence Babe Ruth League action before and after their recent Canadian trip. Blue dropped their final game before Canada to South Lawrence West 5-3, but rebounded with victories over Prospect Hill 11-1, and South Lawrence East 10-2, after returning from Montreal.

South Lawrence West 5 Andover Blue 3

For the first time in four games, Blue failed to score in double figures as red-hot pitcher Silvio Laudani of West stopped them on just six hits in action at Stadium 1.

Blue scored two in first when Rob Wilson was hit by a pitch and Tom Powers doubled to right on a perfect hit-and-run. After Mike Gibson walked, David LaPorte doubled for two runs. However, Laudani shut the door and Blue stranded runners at second and third.

West scored four in the bottom of the first on three hits, one walk and two Blue errors. Blue narrowed the gap to one in the third on a walk to Gibson and a single by LaPorte followed by a balk by Laudani. A single, hit batsmen and a balk gave West an insurance run in the fifth. Only two Blue players reached base after the fifth. Brett Larrabee singled in the fourth and LaPorte got his third hit, a single, in the fifth. Mike Gibson was the starter and loser for Blue.

Andover Blue 11 Prospect Hill 1

John Geiger (3-0) fired a no-hitter and struck out 14 in leading Blue over Prospect Hill 11-1 in a game at Andover High on July 1. Blue cracked 12 hits, the biggest being a grand slam home run by Tom Lutz in renewing their powerful hitting attack.

The game was not in doubt for long. Blue got two in the first and seven in the second to effectively put the game away. A single by Tom Powers, walk to Mike Gibson and triple by Geiger plated two runs in the first. Two singles and an error loaded the bases in the second and Lutz delivered a shot to left center which easily went for a bases loaded homer. A single and walk preceded a Dave LaPorte double for two more runs and LaPorte scored on an error to complete the scoring and a 9-0 lead.

The only run off Geiger came in the fifth on two walks and an error. Blue got its final two runs on singles by John Nuzzo, Rob Ditroia and Bob Rikeman in the seventh.

In Geiger's last three outings he has given just five hits in 21 innings and has struck out 39 opposing batters. Powers, Mike Surette and Rikeman had two hits each for Blue who has averaged over 11 hits in the last five games.

Andover Blue 10 South Lawrence East 2

Tom Powers (1-0) went the distance, giving just one hit as Blue stopped East at Andover High School on July 2. Once again

Blue bats pounded out big hits, including two home runs.

East scored first on two errors by Blue in the first inning. However, Blue answered with seven runs on five hits in their half of the inning. Tom Lutz walked and Powers singled. Mike Gibson reached when Powers was cut down at second, but David LaPorte (15 RBIs for the season) hit a three-run homer over everyone in centerfield. John Geiger was hit by a pitch. Kurt Smith singled. Bob Rikeman reached on an error. Brett Larrabee singled and Mike Surette singled for four more runs and a 7-0 lead. Mike Gibson hit a solo homer to left in the third and singles by Rob Carpenter, Nick Lembo, John Nuzzo and Jeff Penner got two more in the sixth.

Powers went 6 and 1/3 innings before giving up his only hit, a clean single to centerfield by Kevin Regan. East scored in this inning on a walk and throwing error by Blue.

Blue began action as of July 6 with a 5-2 record.

games, swiped eight of them against Loyola.

Andover, 4-0

Mark Grams and Scott Zimmerman combined righthanded pitching talents to handcuff the West Island Bantams in their game at Mead Park.

The pair scattered six hits, never allowing more than one in any inning. They struck out 10 and issued only three walks.

Singles by Mike Surrence and Brian Finerty produced a Blue-Gold threat in the second, but two infield grounders and a strikeout kept the game temporarily scoreless.

In the top of the third, however, Rob DiTroia walked. Mark Grams reached on an error. Mark Doherty bunted the pair along, and Surrence came through with a clutch two-out, two-run single to leftfield.

Andover made it 3-0 in the fourth, but also left the bases loaded. Shane Smith stroked a one-out single. Jeff Penner was safe on an error, and Kevin Rourke drilled a RBI double to left-centerfield.

DiTroia drew his second walk to load the bases, but an infield pop and a squibber to the mound ended the threat.

The final Blue-Gold tally came in the fifth when Scott Zimmerman walked, stole second, took third on a wild pitch, and raced home as Billy Lane tomahawked a single to rightfield.

Walks to Paul Oshan and John Nuzzo provided the final Andover bid in the sixth, but losing hurler Dave Cameron bore down to escape the jam.

West Island put runners aboard in each of the last four innings against Zimmerman, three times getting men to third base, but Scott came up with the strikeout pitch on every occasion to preserve the shutout.

Surrence led the six-hit Blue-Gold barrage with a pair of safeties.

Shane Smith at third and Billy Lane at shortstop played well defensively for Andover.

Serge Bishop and Fran Fascia spanked two hits each for West Island.

Andover, 9-5

Andover erupted for seven runs in the top of the fourth, erasing a 5-2 deficit enroute to victory over the weak West Island Midgets at Mead Park.

Mike Gibson and Fred Foote combined to do the pitching for Andover, with Foote blowing West Island away 1-2-3 in the final stanza.

Blue-Gold inched ahead 1-0 in the top of the first when leadoff batter Dave Laporte walked, stole second, took third on Lary Larrabee's long flyout to rightfield, and scored on a wild pitch.

Gibson made an auspicious debut by striking out the side in the bottom of the first, but he ran into trouble quickly during the second stanza.

An error, three walks and two singles produced three West Island runs, although Gibson then bore down to pitch tough with the bases loaded and just one out.

Andover closed to 3-2 with a tainted run in the third. Laporte leashing a sharp single and scoring on an error, but two more walks and a wild pitch enabled the Canadians to hike their lead to 5-2 moments later.

The seven-run Andover fourth opened with a one-out single by Mark Lefebvre. Steve Dougal followed with a single, both runners advanced on a wild pitch, and Tom Powers lofted a sacrifice fly to centerfield.

Then, with two down and a runner on second, Dave Laporte walked. Billy Vickers spiked a two-run single. Lary Larrabee's routine fly to left was misplayed for a run, Fred Foote singled down the left-field line, Mark Grams' infield grounder was booted for a run, Kurt Smith singled home a run, and the final tally scored during a rundown.

Laporte scored three runs in the game, and Foote picked up a save on the mound by overpowering West Island in the final frame.

Andover, 4-1

Once again the Blue-Gold pitching was exemplary, as righthanders Bill Weidman and Tom Powers pooled talents for a three-hitter and 12 strikeouts in a 4-1 dispatch of the Dollard AA Bantams at Lake Park.

Weidman faced just 10 batters in three innings, striking out six, walking one and permitting no hits.

Powers surrendered three singles, fanned six, walked two and hit one batter in his four-inning stint.

Andover threatened in the top of the first when Mark Grams laced a leadoff single, and Billy Lane was hit in the chest by a pitch, but that's as far as it went.

Jeff Penner was responsible for the first Blue-Gold tally in the second, slamming a triple to left-centerfield and scoring on an error.

In the third Grams singled, Kraig Burzlaff singled, and Billy Lane broke the game open with a clutch two-run single to centerfield.

The final Andover marker came in the fourth, when Rob Wilson ripped a two-out double and scored on a single by Grams.

Powers produced a strikeout with Dollard runners at second and third to escape a fifth inning jam.

The shutout was lost in the sixth, however, as Grey Haddock walked, stole second, took third on Darryl Gelvin's single, and raced home on an infield error.

Grams paced the seven-hit Andover offense with a 2-for-2 afternoon, while Shane Smith also chipped in a single for the winners.

Tom Lutz made a fine running catch in rightfield, and Billy Lane produced a solid game at catcher for Andover.

NDG Bears, 7-6

Andover just couldn't seem to get its act together for this Monday morning game, as the NDG Bantam Bears eked out an eight-inning 7-6 win at Loyola Park.

Blue-Gold started swiftly in the first, grabbing a 2-0 lead on a double by Mark Grams, an RBI triple from John Geiger, and a run-producing single by Rob Wilson.

The Bears retaliated in the bottom half, tying the game against Andover starter Mike Surrence after consecutive singles by winning pitcher Bill Collins, Ricardo Kurt, Luis Carlos and Wilfred Jamie.

Andover regained a 3-2 edge in the third on an RBI single by Geiger, scoring Kraig Burzlaff who had walked, stolen second and advanced to third on a wild pitch.

Brian Finnerty, who came on in relief and hurled five steady frames, surrendered an unearned run to NDG in the bottom of the third.

The Bears took a 4-3 lead in the bottom of the fifth when Jamie, who went 4-for-4 and stole seven bases, singled and proceeded to swipe second, third and home.

Andover inched ahead 5-4 with a pair of runs in the sixth. Back-to-back doubles by Billy Lane and Bob Rikeman tied the game, and walks to Finnerty, Jeff Penner and Burzlaff forced in the other marker.

Carlos Robert's RBI double in the last of the sixth made it 5-5, and neither team was able to score in the seventh although it took a fine throw by Andover catcher Billy Lane to nail a runner at third and force extra innings.

Kraig Burzlaff's long RBI double to left-field in the top of the eighth gave Andover a 6-5 lead.

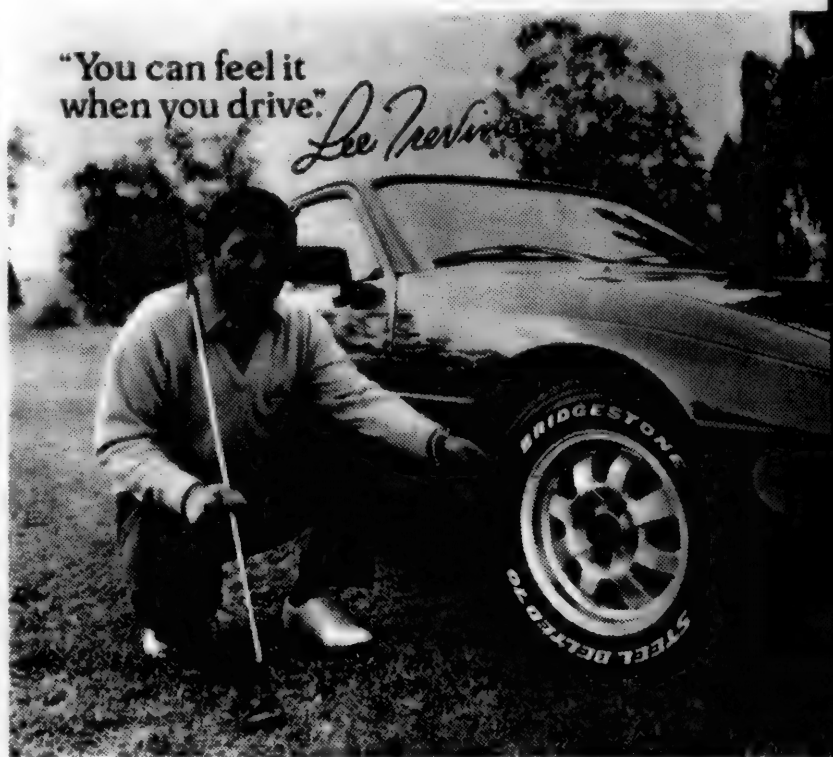

However, in the home half of the eighth

Maurice Allen reached on an infield error and Mark DeRocheffort smacked a one-out single.

Robert then lofted a flyball to rightfield, and when the ball fell behind the outfielder the tying and winning runs scampered across.

Billy Lane led the 10-hit Andover attack with 3-for-4, while John Geiger went 2-for-5.

Kraig Burzlaff had a busy morning in the field, handling 11 chances with four putouts and six assists at second base.

Andover, 6-5 (1st)

A courageous route-going pitching performance by Fred Foote, coupled with a five-run outburst in the top of the sixth, lifted Andover to an impressive 6-5 decision over the highly-regarded Dollard AA Midgets (16-18 years) in the opening game of a twinbill at Lark Park.

Foote, who admittedly didn't have his best stuff and hadn't pitched competitively (except for one inning against West Island) in months, hung tough against Dollard.

He allowed nine hits and walked six, but he also struck out three and wiggled out of several tight spots with clutch pitching.

Blue-Gold notched a run in the top of the first on three straight singles by Dave Laporte, Billy Vickers (bunt) and Lary Larrabee.

A walk to Mike Gibson loaded the bases with one out, but Andover failed to capitalize further.

Foote retired the first two Dollard AA batters easily in the bottom of the inning, but inexplicably hit a streak of wildness and issued four straight walks to produce the tying run.

Dollard chipped away for the go-ahead run in the second, one more run in the fourth, and an unearned tally in the fifth to make it 4-1.

Blue-Gold then batted around in the fifth, striking for five runs and a 6-4 lead.

Scott Zimmerman started the inning with a walk, Foote spanked a one-out single, and Mike Gibson laced a two-run single to put Andover back in contention at 4-3.

Kurt Smith singled, Tom Powers walked, and Brett Larrabee tied the contest by lifting a clutch sacrifice fly to rightfield.

Mark Grams followed with the game-winning blow, a sharp two-run double to right-centerfield.

Dollard closed the gap to 6-5 in the bottom of the sixth on Rich Psinos' sacrifice fly.

Andover sweated through the bottom of the seventh, as Pete Daniels led with a single and Brett Parson walked.

Dave Geall then popped out trying to bunt, and a heads-up play by Blue-Gold shortstop Tom Powers nailed Daniels at third on Jeff Picard's infield roller.

Foote bore down to whiff Marcel Viau for the final out.

Lary Larrabee spiked two of Andover's eight basehits, and defensively Powers joined third baseman Mike Gibson as standouts.

Dollard, 7-4 (2nd)

Dollard salvaged a split against the physically-drained Andover squad, playing its ninth game in three days, as the winners wiped out an early 4-2 deficit and overcame a gritty pitching effort by Lary Larrabee.

Larrabee, forced to hurl with only one day's rest because of the heavy schedule, allowed only six hits and pitched a very smart game.

His obvious weariness was shown by an uncharacteristic seven walks, but with a break here and there Lary definitely could have won the game.

Rich Psinos' two-run double in the bottom of the first gave Dollard a quick 2-0 edge.

Blue-Gold got one back in the second when Steve Dougal walked, Mark Grams singled, and Dollard rightfielder Dave McGourdi misplayed the ball for a run.

The determined Andover team, eyeing a sweep, pushed across three runs in the third to assume a 4-2 lead.

Leadoff batter Dave Laporte walked, both runners were safe when Billy Vickers' bunt was misplayed, and Larrabee helped himself by hammering a two-run Larrabee took third on an infield out, and he scored on Scott Zimmerman's bounce to second base.

Andover had baserunners in three of the last four stanzas, but was unable to advance anyone beyond second.

Foote sent Dollard leftfielder Kyle Banister to the edge of the warning track in the seventh before he flagged down the long fly, but that proved to be Andover's final serious bid.

Dollard tied it 4-4 with two runs in the fourth. Larrabee issued back-to-back, one-out walks, and both runners scored when Picard lined a sharp single to leftfield that barely eluded the grasp of a sliding Scott Zimmerman.

The final three runs came in the bottom of the sixth, as Dollard parlayed two walks, an infield error and a looping single to center.

Mark Grams at shortstop and Kraig Burzlaff at second base were strong defensively.

Burzlaff, who played in all or part of nine games on the trip, handled 29 chances and made just one error at second base.

DON'T BUCK THE INEVITABLE

Mr. Tub meets a friend on the street who greets him: "Wow, looks like you've gained a lot of weight". Mr. Tub answers: "Yes, I only weighed eight pounds when I was born."

Real estate value along with everything else, has also climbed upward from the beginning of time. The early settlers bought land for two cents an acre. Ever since then, real estate has provided the largest single means for individual accumulation of wealth in this country. Why real estate more than any other investment? Because of the principle of leverage.

When something continually increases in value the more you own, the more you will profit as prices rise. In real estate, because of its excellent loan security, your profit can be magnified. For example, if you invest $25,000 as a down payment for a $100,000 building and this property later doubles in value. Your profit it would then be actually four times your cash investment of $25,000.

Marden Named

Atty. Reginald Marden of Central Street, who headed Andover's cable TV study committee, has been retained as a consultant on Cable TV for the town of Derry, N.H.

Marden will assist the town with its negotiations on a new contract for Cable TV service in the community. Continental Cablevision currently holds the contract there.

The Andover lawyer headed a three-member study committee named by selectmen to examine proposals for cable television service in Andover. Continental and Rollins Cablevision were the two firms seeking the franchise here, with the committee recommending Rollins and the selectmen ultimately awarding the license to them.

very exciting things," beginning with the building program. "This is kind of a turning point for Andover High School," he said.

Seifert had earlier recalled remarks former Principal Philip Wormwood made at his retirement dinner, about the times ahead. There had been some tremendous changes in the past decades, Wormwood had noted, but said he felt the changes ahead would be even more dramatic.

Jennings has most recently been a housemaster at Cambridge Rindge and Latin, in charge of about 400 pupils and 40 teachers. In reciting her qualifications, Seifert noted that she has successfully organized a faculty senate and student disciplinary board, in addition to responsibilities in staff development and evaluation, community relations, budget and student discipline.

"Those who have worked with her speak highly of her intelligence, creativity, sensitivity and initiative, as well as the high standards she sets for herself, her staff and her students," he said.

Jennings was formerly assistant principal at Forest Lake (Minn.) High School, responsible for student discipline, staff and curriculum development for 1600 pupils in Grades 10 to 12. She was active in community committees for gifted and talented students, served on the juvenile courts advisory board, and developed and directed a federal project relating to the development of positive attitudes toward learning.

She has also taught a variety of literature, writing, humanities and film courses in high schools in Robbinsdale, Minn., and St. Louis, Mo.

A Phi Beta Kappa graduate in English from Drake University, she earned her

M.A. degree in educational administration from the University of Minnesota. As the recipient of a Bush Foundation Leadership Fellowship, she earned a certificate for advanced studies in administration, planning and social policy at Harvard University in 1979, and she has fulfilled her coursework requirements for a Ph.D. at the University of Minnesota. She is presently doing research for her dissertation on student involvement with discipline at the high school level.

Jennings is a member of the New England Coalition of Educational Leaders and Phi Delta Kappa, and has served as an officer in state-wide organizations of secondary school principals and administrative women in education.

Rescue Graduate

Coast Guard Lt. j.g. Peter J. Boynton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold R. Boynton, Jr. of 267 Osgood St., North Andover, was graduated from the National Search and Rescue (SAR) School.

The four-week course at the Coast Guard Training Center, Governors Island, New York City, was designed to prepare students for duty in rescue coordination centers or aboard rescue ships and aircraft. The school is joint Coast Guard-Air Force Activity which presents standardized doctrine and techniques for personnel from military, federal and civilian agencies involved in SAR efforts.
